Dear Parents,

In this week's Gospel we read of a blind man and the moment he opens his life to being a believer. What does it take to be a believer? Often times it takes a moment of connection, when we open ourselves to the love of Jesus at a very personal level. Our lives are radically changed by the love, compassion and healing of Christ when we make a connection with Him. During this Lenten season we have been making our personal journey with Christ through prayer, fasting and almsgiving. In this Sunday's psalm we hear the Lord is our shepherd. He will lead us through darkness into light if we allow Him to make the connection. When we feel trapped, He will give us courage. When we feel alone, he will lead us to His table of plenty. He will walk with us through every dark valley. As we begin this Fourth week of Lent, let us continue our journey and connect with our shepherd, asking the Lord to lead us home to Him, the light of life!

NO SCHOOL MARCH 28th: This last week of March has a Professional day for the faculty. There is no school on Tuesday.

EASTER BUNNY BREAKFAST: Parents are hard at work planning breakfast with the Easter Bunny. Please see the enclosed information. We can still use volunteers. Sign and return the bottom portion of the flyer and return by Wed. March 29th.

ARTSONIA: For families who have not yet registered for this site, please find your information in the envelope this week. Thank you to all the families who have registered and vote when our students are selected. We have had both finalists and winners and are proud of all the talents our SYMPHONY: Please be sure the children are in full uniform for the trip to the symphony on Friday March 31st. We are not asking for chaperones as the tickets are very limited.

WEEK OF APRIL 10: Master Han is offering a week of camp for students the week of Spring Break. Parents who might be interested in the activities and would like to register, Master Han will return the $50.00 as a donation to St. Mary School, for all first time attendees. So if you have never had a chance to have your child be in TaeKwonDo club here on Tuesday, or are not a member of the school of TaeKwonDo already, he will give back to St. Mary School for every "new" first timer, who register for this week.

REMINDER: The "Ned Show" is April 4th at 9:00am. in the gym. Parents are invited. See last week's flyer. Items will be on sale Wednesday and Thursday.

Have a wonderful weekend.
